

Benefits of individual work

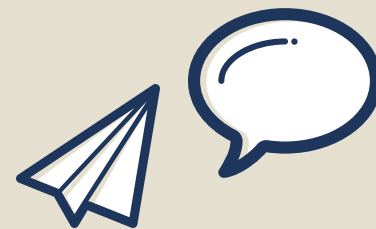

Although it is not common practice in the Romanian companies, this type of program begins to be known and applied more, due to the benefits that accompany it, but under the conditions stipulated by the Labour Code.

Motivating employees

Development of creative employees capacities

Creating a relaxing and comfortable environment

Decrease of absences

Professional and private life balance

Of all these advantages can only benefit employees of companies that specifically allow such an individualized program of work.

All this can be established only with the employees and must be specified in contract.

Present in Romania since 2007, Accace has successfully adapted to the dynamics of local business environment and soon became a trusted provider of outsourcing and consulting services, covering areas such as accounting, payroll, tax and corporate consultancy